Walking around you can spot plenty of birds (about 200 species) and small mammals such as blue monkeys, colobus monkeys, baboons, dik-dik and kudu. One of the best activity is to go on a walk down the steep crater walls to the water. The walk is very scenic with great views of the lake and vegetation. Swimming is possible but it is advised to stay close to the shore. Another interesting walk is the river bed tour. There is a seasonal river nearby where the water has eroded the walls into beautiful shapes.

- Tour Introduction:

Lake Chala is a must go destination as it is a water-filled caldera that was formed after volcanic activity. Being so close to Tsavo National Park you might be able to see large herds of elephants that migrate back and forth between Kenya and Tanzania. As per the years' time interval the colour of the water changes from turquoise, deep blue to green and it is said that the lake is fed via underwater streams from Mt. Kilimanjaro and drains again into neighbouring Lake Chala and the surrounding area is spectacularly interesting, not just because of Kilimanjaro that can be seen on clear days towering in the background but also because it thrives with life.
